

Register of Consultants in Hydrology

The BHS Register of Consultants in Hydrology includes consultancy firms and independent consultants.

1. Consultancy Firms

Consultancy firms are each allocated a full page to advertise their hydrology related services. These adverts are useful to organisations looking for a wide range of services in the hydrological field. The fee for inclusion is £150.

2. Manufacturers of Hydro-meteorological Equipment and Software Products

This category is for firms or organisations that manufacture hydrometric or hydro meteorological equipment or sell software products. Each are allocated a full page to advertise their hydrology related services. This listing will be useful to organizations interested in purchasing equipment or developing or purchasing software packages in the hydrological field. The fee for inclusion is £150.

3. Independent Consultants

This category is for BHS members who act as independent consultants in the field of hydrology. This was initiated in response to the many requests received by BHS centrally, or by individuals and organisations, for the names of those who might be available for specific tasks. The listing will be useful to other BHS members who are asked to recommend somebody. Independent members pay an annual fee (currently £30) for inclusion in the register.

The Listing

Those who would like to be included in the BHS website listing are invited to send the relevant details to the BHS Honorary Treasurer (see website for email address).

Disclaimer

BHS provides this information as a service to its members and to others who may be looking for hydrological advice and assistance. The Society has merely reproduced information supplied by those listed and accepts no responsibility for the accuracy of the contents. Neither does the Society endorse the listed individuals as being suitable for any particular task. The list is intended purely to facilitate contact and it is entirely a matter for the potential client to satisfy himself or herself of the consultant's suitability.